The Little Play Village

An Introduction to The Linear Calendar

What is the Linear Calendar?

Does your child want to know how long it is until an exciting event happens?
Does a traditional grid calendar confuse them?

This visual linear calendar is exactly what you need to help your child.

This template from The Little Play Village allows you to plot dates and events along a timeline, making the concept of time passing far easier for your child to visualise and understand.

Display this calendar up on a wall, window or anywhere with space to display all the days you need to share with your child.

What does it look like?

There are 3 versions to choose from:
- Black and white (this free version)
- Coloured weekends (pictured below)
- Blank (black and white)

What can I use it for?

There isn't an occasion this Linear Calendar isn't ideal for.

Here's a few ideas:
- Birthday countdown
- Days left at preschool
- Countdown until school starts
- Plans for the summer holiday

What else will you use it for? Let us know on Instagram. Our handle is @TheLittlePlayVillage.

How to use the Linear Calendar

1) Print out as many week strips as you need (please only print the page you want to use).

2) Write the relevant dates next to the days.

3) Show any important events in the larger boxes using pictures, colours or any other ways you and your child want to show the event.

4) Display the strips somewhere visible, like a wall or window. Ensure they are displayed with the short end of each strip next to the next short end, making a long line.

5) Your child could tick off each day as it passes or remove the strip once you've completed it.
